Ranchlands is a serene residential neighborhood located in the northwest quadrant of Calgary, Alberta. Established in 1977 after being annexed to the City of Calgary in 1961, it has grown to become a vibrant community, offering a blend of residential amenities and natural beauty. The community is geographically positioned with John Laurie Boulevard to the north, Sarcee Trail to the east, Crowchild Trail to the south, and Nose Hill Drive to the west. It is family oriented with 12 parks & playgrounds an abundance of day cares and close to the Crowfoot LRT with plenty of amenities & shopping. DID YOU KNOW: Ranchlands Park is in the community of Ranchlands It occupies about 12 hectares. The park was established when the community was developed in the 1970s. Hobnob amidst the knobs and kettles. This parkland was set aside to maintain a sense of "ranch land" for residents in the surrounding community. Fortunately, the park also preserves geological features called "knobs and kettles." Much of northwest Calgary was once a field of knobs and kettles but Ranchlands Park is among the last remnants left in a natural state. The knobs, which are small, rounded hilltops and the kettles, which are depressions formed in glacial deposits when a buried block of ice, left behind by a retreating glacier melt, form a field of steeply undulating hills.
